SOURCE

1. The Vice Minister of Heavy Industry (Vice Minister Przemysly Cierkiego) in Poland was Engineer (fau) Zymajtis, a man of about 50 years of age and a member of the Communist Party. He was a very close friend of Prof Michael Smialowski, President of the Silesian Polytechnical Institute (Politechnika Slaska) in Gliwice [3017N-1839E].
2. Vice Minister of the Chemical Industry (Vice Minister Przemysly Chemicznego) was Engineer Franciszek Ulak, also a man of about 50 years of age. Prior to World War II he was assistant of analytical chemistry on the staff of the Warsaw Technical University (Politechnika Warszawska). He was a well known Communist and during the war acted as Consul at Bierut. In 1945, he organized the Polish Industry of Reagents (Polski Przemysl Odczynnikow), and became its first director. That same year he built the Chemical Reagents Plant (Fabryka Odczynnikow Chemicznych) in Gliwice, Poland. In 1949 he became the chief director of the United Inorganic Chemical Industrial Factories, Iao (Zjednoczone Zaklady Przemyslu Nieorganicznego Hrg), and in 1950, the second director of the entire Polish Chemical Industry.

3. The Vice Minister of Mineral Industry (Vice Minister Przemysly Mineralnego), who was in control of all cement, glass ceramics and building materials, was engineer Grzymek (fnu). He was about 40 years old. After World War II, he became the director of one of the largest cement factories in Poland (name unknown), located in Grossowice [5038X-1758E]. In 1949 he became a technical director of the United Cement Factories, Inc (Zjednoczenie Fabryk Cementu), and in 1951 he was appointed Vice Minister of Polish Mineral Industry.
